Hostetter's Stonagch Bitters is a medicinal safeguard against unhealthful influences, upon which they can implicitly rely, since it prevents the effects that an unhealthy climate, villsted atmosphere, unaccustomed or unwholesome det, bad water, or other conditions unfavorable to health, would otherwise produce. On long voages, or journe's by land in latitudes adjacent to the equator, it is especially useful as a preventative of the febrile complaints and disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels, which are apt to attack natives of the temperate zones sojourning or traveling in such regions, and is an excellent protection against the influence of extreme cold, sadden changes of temperature, exposure to damp or extreme fatigue. It not only prevents intermittent and remittent lever, and other diseases of a malarial type, but eradicates them, a fact that has been noforious for years past in North and South America, Mexico, the West Indies, Australia and other countries.

MONMOUTH, Ill., June 29.—The mildings of the Monmouth Sewer buildings of the Monmouth Sewer Pipe company were destroyed by fire yesterday. The fire originated at the bottom of a shaft 100 feet deep. The flames instantly flew up the walls and ignited the building covering the shaft. Three dynamite torpedoes then ex-ploded, throwing the fire over a large barn that was filled with hay.

The heat was filled with hay.

The heat was so intense the firemen could not approach the shaft, which led to mines below, where eighteen men were imprisoned. Nearly two hours transpired before the men could be reached. The men were prostrated when brought up, but a dash of water and the fresh air revived them.
